The story follows scientist Vijay Sundaram who finds himself trapped and wholly unaware of his actual foe, races against time to save humanity from an impending doom. “I am thrilled to have this opportunity presented to us to adapt such a spectacular work of fiction into a series at Abundantia Entertainment. ‘Keepers Of The Kalachakra’ has been a fascinating read and is one of my personal favourites.

“We are deep admirers of Ashwin’s writing and the worlds that he creates with his unique stories. We are constantly on the look-out for disruptive and evocative stories and storytellers and there couldn’t be a better example of our content philosophy than this collaboration with Ashwin,” Vikram Malhotra, Founder & CEO, Abundantia Entertainment, said in a statement.

Sanghi said he is excited to work with the production banner on the book adaptation.

“I have truly enjoyed all the exciting work that Abundantia Entertainment has been up to in its young journey and have been entertained by the amazing films and shows it has produced,” he added.

Sanghi’s other best-selling novels include “The Rozabal Line”, “Chanakya’s Chant”, “The Krishna Key”, “The Sialkot Saga” and “The Vault of Vishnu”.
